NEW YORK CITY

Eastern Standard

Since its 2007 opening, Eric Goode and Sean MacPherson (the bicoastal bigwigs behind some of Manhattan and L.A.'s most beloved boutique bars, hotels and restaurants) have continued to host It girls and fashion presentations (think Holmes & Yang) at The Bowery Hotel. For a quintessential Manhattan spring break, head to this Lower East Side locale, where a sidewalk table at Gemma restaurant is the perfect perch. Or, request a bike to explore the neighborhood. From $325/night; 335 Bowery, N.Y., 212-505-9100; theboweryhotel.com.

ROLL WITH IT

Ready for Takeoff

From the genius minds behind S.F.-based on-call car service Uber, BlackJet now caters to the skies with routes between L.A., S.F., L.V., N.Y. and Florida. Flying through private airports may now be more accessible, but it's still by invitation only. blackjet.com.

SWING TIME The standout in Louis Vuitton's new Objets Nomades collection of 16 travel-inspired items? This limited-edition Atelier Oï Hammock in Vuitton's supple leather and gold-plated fixtures. louisvuitton.com.

Hammock by Atelier Oï, $32,300, 116 Greene St., N.Y., 212-274-9090.

SAN FRANCISCO

Bed Rest

The Viceroy Hotel Group opens the doors to Hotel Zetta this month, one hundred years after the building's original construction. With a focus on sustainable materials, the boutique SoMa property reflects the Bay Area's tech savvy as well as the brand's impeccable sense of design. From $225/night; 55 5th St., S.F., 415-543-8555; hotelzetta.com.

One of the hotel's 116 guestrooms.
